

Henry F. Graff

THE TUESDAY CABINET

Deliberation and Decision on Peace and War
Under Lyndon B. Johnson

Join President Johnson and such senior advisors as Dean Rusk, Robert McNamara, General Wheeler and McGeorge Bundy for an unprecedented inside look at decision-making (particularly about Vietnam) and the balance of influences within the Johnson administration. For over four years, at Johnson's invitation, the Columbia historian Henry F. Graff held conversations with the members of this exclusive "Tuesday Cabinet." In this book he probes the substance of those momentous meetings and provides a major historical statement about our era.

"A unique document. . . . Utterly fascinating reading."
—ROGER HILSMAN, Former Assistant Secretary of State for Far Eastern Affairs.

"A rare mix of immediacy and perspective." —MARVIN KALB, CBS News Diplomatic Correspondent, Washington, D.C.

"A much needed and refreshingly honest treatment of this angle of vision." —JAMES MacGREGOR BURNS
